Three sweet potatoes

A grey trash bin is shown from a top-down perspective, filled with various food scraps. A whole cucumber is visible, along with three sweet potatoes and a bag of clementines. The bin is situated on a light-colored tiled floor next to a white door.

Household food waste produces

61 percent

of global food waste, at 569 million metric tons a year

75% of adults throw out food
because they “forgot about it”

90%

of students said their food “unexpectedly” goes bad often

PROBLEM STATEMENT

As university students learn to independently grocery shop and cook for the first time, their limited understanding of ingredient shelf life produces costly, unnecessary food waste.
